DEDICATION

We would like to dedicate this book to

"MAJOR A. M. PRATT M.C."

Who gave so much to better the education
of all those concerned.

VICE PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Students seldom learn by precept; and principals' messages, if attempted too seriously, are often high-sounding and confusion-ridden.

This year, therefore, I shall attempt no more than to ask you to look at life as it is. Don't be afraid to meet life freely and openly. Try to understand its meaning and to learn its language. Try it now.

Sir Winston Churchill once said: "Plant a garden in which you can sit when digging days are done. It may be only a small garden, but you will see it grow. Year by year it will bloom and ripen. The fruit trees will be pruned and trained. The flowers will bloom in more beautiful combinations. There will be sunshine there even in the winter time, and cool shade and the play of shadow on the pathway in the shining days of June."

'Tis but an analogy. But you are the gardener of your life. 'Tis spring; 'tis time for planting. Try it now!

This was an eventful year. We appreciate the facilities that the new addition to the old building provides. Perhaps we also learned that success and survival are dependant on sound study habits and on an honest adherence to reasonable regulations.

My thanks to the staff for their excellent work and wonderful co-operation. My congratulations to all successful students. My sympathies to those students whose honest effort was not enough to ensure academic success. My well-wishes to the graduates: I know you will find your new responsibilities exhilarating. My commendations to the editor of the Yearbook and to his staff. This creditable edition represents much hard work. To all, my wishes for a most enjoyable holiday.

E. S. KILIMNIK.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

There is much criticism of the school and by "the school" I mean every school. Many students are leaping gaily onto this critical bandwagon, enjoying the opportunity to embarrass teachers, principals, superintendents, and school board members. But whatever its faults (and there are many), it does attempt to promote integrity.

I believe the school teaches every day and throughout the day that moral order in society is worthy of respect. The school does so by demonstrating certain standards as part of its day by day operation. For example the school shows the student the value of effort and work by giving public recognition to merit; every report card, every grade, every honour roll, every scholarship, says to the student "you must work for what you get".

Every student has exactly the same importance as every other student. He has the same locker, the same use of school facilities, the same opportunities for education, the same freedoms, and the same restrictions. Freedom of speech is exemplified by classroom discussions; freedom of religion is exemplified by the respect for human dignity is exemplified by the equal treatment of all students as described above. All of this is democracy of the highest order.

Professor Jacks, an eminent English educator made the following striking statement about the teaching of values in school:

"We teach values all day long--
In arithmetic by accuracy and care,
In history by humanity,
In geography by breadth of mind,
In industrial arts by craftsmanship,
In art by seeking beauty,
In science by reverence for truth,
In the playground by fair play."

During my years at Major Pratt my many and precious young friends lead me to the belief that we were not entirely unsuccessful in fostering democratic values. In saying goodbye, I would like to express the hope that you will extend to all those you meet in the years ahead the same warmth and courtesy which was evidently extended to me in my final months at Russell. You will thus command the same respect from others which I always held for you. I wish you all every success.

STUDENTS PRAYER

A monster is my teacher
I shall not pass;
He maketh me face the blackboard
He destroyeth my love notes
He putteth my gum in the trash can,
He maketh me quiet and taketh away my candy
He waketh me from my sleep and leadeth me to
The office for conduct's sake.

Yea, though I walk through the halls of knowledge,
I fear great evil,
For I have forgotten my homework,
His face hardens before me
He maketh me write 1000 lines
He filleth the blackboard with homework,
My notebook runneth over
Surely mischief and misfortune shall follow me
All the days of my schooling,
And I shall dwell in the halls of this school forever.

President's Message

This year for me has been one of many trials and tribulations. The job of president demands a great deal of work and dedication but when receiving some praise it makes it worth while. I would like to thank everyone on the Student Council and in the Student Body who helped me do the things I wanted to attempt. With out your help the year wouldn't have been a success, but with your help I believe it has been one.

It is always hard to try something new in a school, but this year we did and I believe the support was better this year than last. I felt that people were ready to help and believe me this made my job a great deal easier.

I hope that when you are gone from this school you can turn around and say this was a good year. Because of student union and co-operation. It is my hope that next year the union and co-operation will bloom and grow stronger, because it is necessary for an active and excited student body.

To those who compose the student council for next year good-luck, and remember if you want help "ask for it". As for you people if you want to get involved but aren't volunteer your help. You will find that it is appreciated and you will feel good deep down.

Good-luck to one and all in the future and may you find your dream.

Thanks for this year.

BOB SCHWALM

Editor's Message

This year we wanted to produce a Yearbook of a higher quality than ever before produced in this school. With the help of a very efficient staff, I believe we have accomplished this. This year has been one of trial and tribulation, but it has all been well worth it. It is my hope that this Yearbook will keep alive the memories we have of this school and never let them die.

I would like to thank the committee, Mr. Kallio, our faculty advisor and other individuals who made this Yearbook a reality.

To the grads, who will soon be starting another facet in their lives, I wish them every success in their future careers. To the undergrads I hope they complete their education and go on to find better things in life.

Thank you, for the privilege of letting me serve you.

Man and the Monkey

Three monkeys sat in a coconut tree
Discussing things as they're said to be,
Said one to the other, "How liste, you two,
There's a certain rumer that can't be true,
That man descended from our noble race.
That very idea is a disgrace.
No monkey ever deserted his wife
Starved her babies or ruined her life.
And you've never known a mother monk
To leave her babies with others to bunk,
Or pass them on from one to another
'Till they scarcely know who is their mother,
And another thing you'll never see.....
A monk build a fence around a coconut tree
And let the coconuts go to waste,
Forbidding all other monks to taste.
If I'd put a fence around this tree,
Starvation would force you to steal from me.
Here's another thing a monk won't do,
Go out at night and get into a stew,
And use a club or a knife
To take some other monkey's life.
Yes, Man descended, the ornery cuss.....
But, brother, he didn't descend from us."

PHILOSOPHY

Budget shortage is too much month left over at the end of the money.

Modern woman does not show age at 40, in act, very few reach 40 any more.

The reason a person becomes quieter when older--he learns no one listens anyway.

Most women dislike jury duty because its all listening.

A minute for safety is better than a month for recovery.

Nothing will draw a father and his teen-age son closer together than having only one set of car keys.

IF

BY RUDYARD KIPLING

If you can keep your head when all about you are losing theirs and blaming it on you;

If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you, but make allowance for their doubting too;

If you can wait and not be tired by waiting, or, being lied about, don't deal in lies, or being hated don't give way to hating, and yet don't look too good, nor talk to wise;

If you can dream--and not make dreams your master;

If you can think--and not make thoughts your aim,

If you can meet with Triumph and Disaster and treat those two impostors just the same:

If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools, or watch the things you gave your life to, broken, and stoop and build'em up with worn-out tools;

If you can make one heap of all your winnings and rish it on one turn of pitch-and-toss, and lose, and start again at your beginnings, and never breathe a word about your loss:

If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew to serve your turn long after they are gone, and so hold on when there is nothing in you except the Will which says to them: "Hold on!"

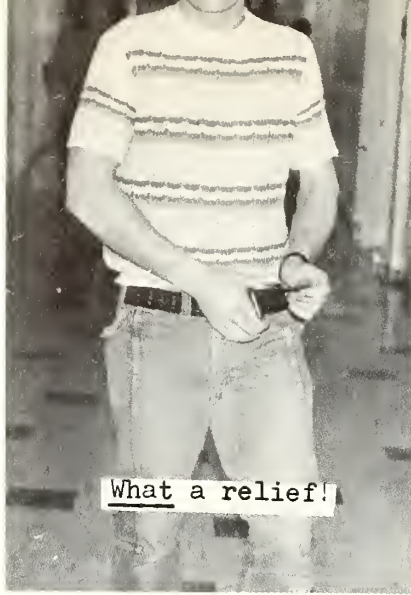

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue, or walk with Kings--nor lose the common touch,

If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,

If all men count with you, but none too much:

If you can fill the unforgiving minute with sixty seconds' worth of distance run, Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it.

And--which is more--you'll be a Man, my son!

THE OPTIMIST CREED:

PROMISE YOURSELF

- To be so strong that nothing can disturb your peace of mind.
- To talk health, happiness and prosperity to every person you meet.
- To make all your friends feel that there is something in them.
- To look at the sunny side of everything and make your optimism come true.
- To think only of the best, to work only for the best, and expect only the best.
- To be just as enthusiastic about the success of others as you are about your own.
- To forget the mistakes of the past and press on to the greater achievements of the future.
- To wear a cheerful countenance at all times and give every living creature you meet a smile.
- To give so much time to the improvement of yourself that you have no time to criticize others.
- To be too large for worry, too noble for anger, too strong for fear and too happy to permit the presence of trouble.

The Ham and Radio Club started in the second semester. It was organized by Larry Goraluik, Terry Proskie and Larry Kalynuik.. Their staff advisor was Mr. Harvey Ronald. Their committee consisted of as many as 20 members ranging from grade seven to eleven.

The president of the club was Terry Proskie with Larry G. as vice and Larry K. as sec-tres.

The club studied the Morse Code and communication receiving with the help of a communication receiver which was donated to the club by Mr. Harold Clement.

The club hopes to continue in the future and plan to obtain a transmitter so studies will vary.

The 1972 season was not a successful one in the terms of wins and losses. This young inexperienced team ended the season in a result of 0 - 7.

Coaches Mr. Montgomery and Mr. Fowler were anything but discouraged, however as they will have basically the same team for the next three years, they are optimistic about the future.

Games this year were against Dauphin & Swan River in the Northwest Football League and two exhibition games against Souris.

Winners of individual awards this year were:

Rookie : Fred Dunn

Best Offensive Player : Gary Henschel

Best Defensive Player : Scott Rowat

Lineman of the Year : Glenn McLeod

Electricity does so much for us, in such an unobtrusive way, that we tend to forget what it means to us. Even when it isn't there for some reason we take it for granted that it'll be back on in a few minutes. And it usually is because dependable people work swiftly and surely to restore service. At Hydro we're proud that the quality of our service is good enough to be . . . taken for granted.
